

MONSTER WORLD

An animated adventure series about war, fear & empathy

25 minX 12

In Monster World humans & monsters have been at war for centuries.

We follow Bobby, a cowardly teenager attempting to graduate from a monster-fighting school, and his two secret best friends, Terry & Hilt- a pair of misfit monsters.

Their adventures will let us explore why humans and monsters are fighting in the first place, as the trio tries to do the impossible: end the war once and for all!

Monster World shows us that in war, both sides don't know how to face their fears and problems other than blame and hurt each other. Through our young heroes, we will learn the one thing that can make the difference: Empathy.

Empathy has the power to let us be at our best in the darkest of times and see the truth about others, as well as ourselves, nomatter how much fear & hatred surrounds us. With it, we can be heroes ourselves by uniting the world rather than dividing it.

THE CREATOR - ODED ILANI

As someone from the Middle East, I was surrounded by war my entire life.

I believe that we need stories about empathy in times of war now more than ever. Using my experience as a content creator for games and educational media, I decided to craft such a story in a world I'd love to watch myself.

Through Monsterworld, I want to inspire people to re-examine society and bring about that much more compassion and trust in the world.
